NEELY SLIPPING TO HIS DEFEAT

Democratic Headquarters See Victory Ahead for Mr. Hearne for Congress.

[By Charles Brooks Smith.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Visitors to the national headquarters which have been, in the larger way, running the campaign of the two old parties in the First West Virginia congressional district, have read the barometer in the feelings and the faces of those in command, in the closing hours just before the battle, and have been willing since to stake their reputations as political soothsayers in a manner more free, if not more reckless, than have typified their observations of the all now, careful of their reputed ability to read the story in the stars which twinkle and go out, and sometimes "come back." In the political skies they have guarded their guesses or their prophecies with, for them, unusual reticence, stirring the coffee grounds in the bottom of the cup the while, shuffling the ashes upon the hearth, peering into the mysterious crystal, or sweeping the stars with their telescopes—whichever method each preferred to rely on for lifting the curtain on the drama of the future. Their trouble was that the situation was more chaotic and complex than any which has confronted them for a long time, presenting new and unusual phases hard to sort out at their proper value and give to them their right designation and place in the final sum-

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and the effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't irritate the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 16c and 25c per box. RESINOL WILL STOP THAT ITCH

Brings Instant Relief and Quickly Clears Away Skin Eruptions.

No matter how long you have been tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, raw or scaly skin humors, just put a little of that soothing, antiseptic Resinol Ointment on the sores and the suffering stops right there. Healing begins that very minute, and your skin gets well so quickly you feel ashamed of the money you threw away on useless, tedious treatments. Wherever drugs are sold, you can be just as sure of finding Resinol Ointment as court-plaster or a toothbrush. This is because doctors have prescribed it so regularly for the last eighteen years that every druggist knows he must keep it constantly in stock. It comes in opal jars, for fifty cents and one dollar, or you can try it at our expense. Resinol Ointment is most effective for healing sores, boils, wounds and piles. Write today to Dept. 5-M, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a sample of Resinol Ointment and a miniature cake of Resinol Soap.

was believed he would when he got to stumping. He is hundreds of votes weak in his own party because of the way his nomination was pulled off. He cannot make up any of this loss from the Republican party, for there is nothing in his candidacy to draw votes from that source. Besides that party is united, enthusiastic and apparently "out to win" this year as it has not been for some years back in that district. The faith that the Democrats had in the first place in the Progressive candidate pulling away enough votes from Hearne to defeat the latter and accomplish a victory for their man, has practically collapsed in face of the fact that every sign points to an exceedingly small vote for the third party candidate. Instead of the campaigning adding to the Progressive vote, it is pretty generally agreed that it has daily lost votes instead of gaining them. As there was no need, or demand for a third party candidate, the campaign of that alleged party has about petered out. On the other hand the Republicans have rallied with surprising enthusiasm and unanimity. The tariff question has brought them together shoulder to shoulder as in the old days, and they have been aroused on this question as they have not been since the protective policy was assaulted in the years of the Cleveland campaign. The Republican meetings have been more numerous than for many years, more largely attended and more enthusiastic, while the Democratic meetings, as a general thing, have not been up to expectations in attendance, and noticeably spiritless and unenthusiastic. Senator Goff's great meetings and speeches proved the final death knell to the hopes of the men who forced Neely on the party. Nothing in West Virginia politics has equalled them in many campaigns in influencing the result of the count. That the Democratic managers have centered their efforts in the final days in working to get out their party's full voting strength shows that they have good reason to expect what their opponents have reason to count on, that is, that there is going to be a big stay-at-home Democratic vote on Tuesday. The fact that the Democratic spellbinders and press have been unable to defend the new tariff with a vigor that showed sincerity has served to hurt, too. Their assiduity and enthusiasm in praising and soft-soaping the third party movement and its misguided standard-bearer, has not helped, but hurt rather, since it was apparent to all as the cheapest kind of flattery and fakery, having no other purpose but to deceive the unwary and the unintelligent. It has been resented more than approved, and will not count appreciably in his final reckoning.

These are some of the phases hastily sketched which have appealed to the Republican national congressional committee and which have brushed away any doubt that they had as to Hearne's success. They are responsible for the confidence and sureness which now prevail. Likewise, they are the reason for the change in feeling at Democratic headquarters. "We are ready for the voting to begin out in West Virginia right now," said Chairman Wood when he closed his desk tonight. "The Republican party has won a great victory that will shake the foundation stones of the national administration. I never felt surer of any political thing than I do of Mr. Hearne's triumphant election next Tuesday."

OPERATION CURES CRAZED MURDERER

Slayer, Dying, Saved by Removal of Bone on Brain.

Trenton, N. J.—Through a successful operation in the New Jersey State prison here James Szikely, a convicted murderer, who was declared insane, has been restored to full possession of his senses.

Szikely killed a countryman during a fight with other Hungarians in a barroom at Belvidere, N. J., on Oct. 11, 1911. He received an injury to his skull and soon afterward became deranged. He was thought to be dying by the prison authorities and was about to receive the last rites of the Catholic church when the physicians decided to operate. They removed a section of bone from the base of Szikely's skull, which had been pressing upon his brain, and he is reported to be in full control of his senses.

Dr. Samuel Sica, one of the physicians who assisted at the operation, said:

"Szikely is now calm and peaceable. All his old violence has left him. The relief brought about by the removal of the piece of bone that was pressing on his brain has given the man a new outlook on life. He is now anxious and eager for employment in the prison shops and for the crime he committed has a normal man's abhorrence. The injury, as I understand, came about in the fight which brought him to prison for murder, but it would seem to me that the operation has changed the man entirely, making him a better man than he was before he received the injury."

A NERVY HUNTER.

He Shoots a Bear Cub Caught in a Trap.

Sacramento, Cal.—J. F. Misplay, a deputy in Superintendent George Lind-cliff's office in the Capitol building, returned from his vacation with a tale of how he slaughtered a magnificent big brown bear. Misplay was getting along fine with his story until one of his party told a friend how the superintendent's deputy had come across a ninety pound cub a farmer had tamed to pull logs in the woods and shot him while the bear was tied to a tree. Misplay declares that he trapped the bear and that he had a perfect right to blow the cub's brains out while the animal was kicking in the trap.

As proof of his prowess in the wilds Misplay had some of the cub meat shipped to his friends. The "kill" was made about fifteen miles north of Clisico.

CLAIMS CHICAGO ESTATE.

Baltimore Man Believes He is Son of Publisher Lee.

Baltimore.—Believing that he is a son of the late William H. Lee, a Chicago publisher, who died last summer, leaving a $200,000 estate, Clarence O. Lee of this city has placed his claims to a share of the property in the hands of lawyers.

Lee said his father left Baltimore about twenty-five years ago, and nothing was ever learned of his whereabouts. Two other sons are said to live in Baltimore.

Romantic incidents in the early life of William H. Lee, which were published after his death, coincide with the Baltimore claimant's recollections of his father and led to his belief in the relationship.

HE SAYS HE'S NOT DEAD.

Civil War Veteran Denies He Was Killed at Fair Oaks.

Lansing, Mich.—One of the interesting figures in the ranks of the G. A. R. is John Broad of Lansing. According to the war records, Mr. Broad did not participate in the recent reunion here at all. The war records say he is dead. He has been trying for fifty years to convince the officials at Washington that he is alive and he has not succeeded yet. "John Broad, killed at the battle of Fair Oaks, Va.," say the records, and so far as the department is concerned, that is all there is to it. "I'm dead yet, officially," he says, "but the boys don't mind associating with a ghost, so I guess it's all right."

Blond Indians.

One of the mysteries of Mexico is presented by the Maya Indians, who inhabit the Sierra Madre mountains in the lower part of Sonora. They have fair skins, blue eyes and light hair, and students of ethnology have always been puzzled to account for them. There is a tradition, however, that these Indians are the descendants of the crew and passengers of a Swedish vessel wrecked on the Mexican coast centuries before Columbus discovered the new world. But this tradition is founded on nothing more substantial than a folklore tale current among them that their ancestors came over the big salt water hundreds of moons ago.
